

PRIME MINISTER

BILATERAL WITH THE CHANCELLOR

I gather that the Chancellor does not yet know what he wants to talk to you about on Monday although I gather that the treatment of the Review Bodies' reports is uppermost in his mind. We have not yet received any reports though I understand from the Office of Manpower Economics that the Doctors and Dentists reports will be a little later than the rest.

The Chancellor will be leaving for a week of international meetings on Tuesday so no doubt international problems will be on his mind.

You might also want to mention to him the impact of the new provisions on ADRs about which you were concerned.
